Test Consultancy on Demand

Key Features

- access to experts in specialist areas
- flexible working basis
- continuity of consultant
- only pay for the time you use
- highly cost effective
- tailored contracts

What it is

Test Consultancy on Demand is a service created to help clients overcome resource pressures and challenging budget constraints. It's a simple, low-cost alternative to using traditional, costly test consultants. Rather than engage a consultant for 5 days a week, Test Consulting on Demand reflects the fact that often you only need a consultant for a few days here and there. But you want the assurance of continuity of the same consultant - someone who gets to know your systems, applications, software vendors and people - working with you in long-term partnership but only costing you the time you use.

How it works

We'll offer you a choice of expert consultants - whether it's a Senior Test Manager to help you refocus that project and achieve that impossible budget, a Performance Testing guru to mentor your team or a skilled Test Analyst or two to ensure you hit that release deadline. Having made your choice and decided how much time you're likely to require of your consultant you're able to work with them however you choose to - in the office, by 'phone or via email to suit you. Think of your Test Consultant on Demand as an extension to your everyday team.

Why Us

- highly experienced test consultants
- straightforward approach
- commitment to quality and delivery
- focus on value for money
- flexible & innovative managed services
- dedicated account management
- financial strength

What it costs

With Test Consultancy on Demand you can shape the service to meet the precise needs of your organisation or even a particular project. For example, if you agree a 4 day-per-month contract and only use 3 days in one month then we'll roll over the unused day to the next month. Or, if you prefer, pre-pay an agreed number of days and simply call them off over a period of time, as you need them. The service really is that flexible and you'll be surprised at how favourably the day-rate compares to mainstream test consultancy.
